Raging Fire In Field Caused Damaged, Water Pressure Low On Sunday

Smoke Blamed For Car Accident

A raging grass fire in a field owned by Richard Snell, about a half mile south of Blyth, last Friday afternoon caused considerable damage to surrounding property and is also considered the cause of a traffic accident on the highway immediately adjacent to the field.

The fire extended past its boundaries into a field behind the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Elliott and caused a hasty retreat by Joe and Ted Hunking who were baling straw in the field.

The fire damaged a fence on the Elliott property and also damaged a hedge of cedar trees around the home.

At the height of the blaze the dense smoke completely covered highway No. 4 and poor visibility is blamed for the collision of vehicles driven by Mrs. Stewart Ament and Mrs. Dr. W. A. Oakes of Clinton. Mrs. Ament was travelling north into Blyth and Mrs. Oakes south toward Clinton when their two cars met almost head-on.

Blyth firemen responded to a call for assistance with both the pumper and tank truck, and once it was determined where the heart of the fire was amid the smoke, had little difficulty in extinguishing the blaze.

Horse Show Gives Fall Fair Good Start

The Horse Show in the Blyth arena last Saturday night proved to be a good kick-off for the 1969 edition of the Blyth Fall Fair.

Although attendance was down slightly from last year's show, the arena was still fairly well filled with interested horse fans.

Due to the occurrence of the many hay and straw fires in the Blyth Fire Area in recent weeks (six to be exact) Fire Chief Irvin Bowes has issued a warning that if any further occurrences of this nature (fires started in dry weather and on windy days) he will deem it necessary to ask the township councils within the area to invoke the Fire Guardian Act, which, in part, reads as follows:

No person shall, after the passing of such by-law, set out fire or set fire to any brush heap or other combustable material in any field, clearance or place in such township where the fire would be likely to spread between the 1st day of April and the 31st day of October in any year without having first obtained permission in writing from one of the fire guardians.

57th Anniversary

Celebrated

A Family gathering was held on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Niergarth, Wingham, when Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walsh celebrated their fifty-seventh wedding anniversary with all members of the family present. Those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Pepper, Hensall, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Walsh Sarnia, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walsh and Mr. Lloyd Walsh, all of Blyth.

The $135.00 jackpot prize at last Saturday's Lions Club bingo game was won by Mrs. Elmer Goll of Mildmay in 59 calls. Maurice Spitzie of Chepstow won the $25. game.

Share the wealth games went to Mrs. George Burkholder and Mrs. Molly Grant, both of Blyth. $125.00 will be the jackpot offered this Saturday night. Why not plan to attend and get in on the action?

It's A Lot Of Work

Visitors at the arena exhibits at the Blyth Fall Fair on Wednesday probably had little idea just how much work went into returning the building back to shape following the horse show and the feeder calf show on Saturday and Monday respectively.

The arena presented a neat and tidy appearance — only through the efforts of society members. Don Young and Murray Scott, along with Ken Hulley and two of his men. The group worked all Monday night following the calf sale through until near noon on Tuesday clearing the dirt from the arena floor.

During the business part of the meeting the treasurer reported that the receipts from the 12th of July Smorgasbord were $409. 00.

Plans were made for the Anniversary Fowl Supper. The date set was the 29th of October.

Many months of work and training culminated at the Blyth arena Monday afternoon for the members of the Blyth Agricultural Society Feeder Calf Club when awards were handed out to the various classes at the annual fat steer show.

A total of ninety-two young people participated in the show, and the quality of the steers was enough proof of the job they turned in feeding and training their animals. Keith Coates of Centralia acted as judge of the animals.

and
SPICE

By Bill Smile,

KIDS GETTING ROUGH DEAL

Have you noticed what has happened to all those tense, harassed, haggard, harried, hysterical women who were around all summer? They've suddenly turned into fat cats smiling, relaxed, ready to turn the other cheek rather than belt you on yours.

Know why? Because their kids are back to school, that's why. Not that they don't love their children. No, no, no. All mothers love their children. But they can't STAND them after two months' holidays.

Paradise on earth is not the Isles of Greece, or two cars, or four credit cards, or a mink stole. It's sitting down with a cup of coffee after the kids are off to school and realizing that you won't see them for anywhere from three to six hours.

Silence. Golden. No more of, "Jane's mean. Billy won't give back my bike. When are we going for a swim? I wanna popsicle. There's nothing to do. It's hot outside. How come we never have any cold pop?" And so on.

Lucky ladies. No dirty bare feet tracking through the house. No whining. No demands for the impossible. No fighting. Nothing but an hour of blessed solitude, with a cup of coffee and maybe a cigarette for the depraved, and nothing to listen to except Jolly Jack, the disc jockey. Even getting at the dishes and the washing is a pleasure, when there's nobody there snivelling, "I fell and hurt my knee, Mum, Mum my knee hurts, Mum!"

Well, girls, I hope you enjoy it. You deserve it. But while you're lolling in this sybaritic splendor, let me remind you that I and all the other idiots who teach school are stuck with your rotten kids for ten months, six hours a day. Keep this in mind when you scream at your horrendous education taxes.

It's not that I don't enjoy getting back on the job in September. If I did, I wouldn't be right in the head. It's a pleasant change after two months of my wife and daughter driving me crazy, singly or in tandem.

Instead of two women yatering and wheedling and scolding and nagging and cajoling and conning me, all I have to face is about 185 kids doing the same. But there's safety in numbers.

And I have some authority at school. If a kid bugs me too much, I can threaten him with all sorts of dreadful punishments, like being sent to the principal's office, which terrifies him about as much as being attacked by a bunny rabbit.

Or I can resort to the final edict, "Look, if you're 16 and you don't like it here, out, vamos, raus, get lost. There's the door. You're free." This is fairly effective, especially in winter, because they don't want to go to work.

Another delightful aspect of getting to work is meeting all my old friends on the staff. There's the cut-and-thrust wit of the staff room at lunch hour, much like the atmosphere of the French salons of the 18th century. "Who's got the crossword puzzle? Gawd, my feet are killin' me. Jeez, I wish it was Friday."

And there's the genuine thrill of staff meetings, where the real, gritty business of education is discussed with a dignity and decorum that would shame the Senate. Sometimes, in only 40 minutes, we decide whether gum-chewing is allowed daily, or only during exams, to relieve tension. And often, with remarkable dispatch, say half an hour, we decide, within four inches, how long a boy's hair or how short a girl's dress must be.

However, I do like kids, and it IS rewarding to watch them grope, then cope. And a few weeks ago a couple of former students, now at university, who were real hellers when I taught them, asked me out for a game of golf. And then a little girls called me up, and asked if she could be in my English class.

And Jerry, a boy of whom I rather despaired, but a good lad, asked Kim what I wanted for a gift last June, when he graduated, magna cum laude.

She replied, rather intelligently, I thought, "Give him something he likes, and something useful." All on his own, he hustled downtown and bought me a bottle of good Burgundy and three golf balls. When a chap shows judgment like that, you can't help feeling you've succeeded, somehow.

FROM THE MINISTER'S STUDY

IF WE NEGLECT!

Last month L. Nelson Bell started his column "A Layman and his Faith" in the fortnightly paper "Christianity Today" relating how not too far from his home a tragedy occurred recently — a young man instantly killed in the crash of a car. He had been drinking, ignoring the fact that alcohol and gasoline must not be mixed. He was driving at an excessive speed, ignoring speed limit and warning signs for sharp curves. And he was driving at night! The writer, deeply impressed by this accident, tells everything in detail and at great length. But his purpose doing so is clear enough! — The Bible warns constantly that there is danger ahead for the unrepentant sinner, a danger so great that God has taken every precaution to enable man to avoid it.

A key word of the Christian faith is "salvation." Although it may not be popular in some circles today, the fact remains that, if the scriptures are true, Christ came into the world to save sinners — to save them from the dangers ahead, and for his eternal home.

Therefore the writer of the Epistle to the Hebrews remarks: "how shall we escape if we neglect such a great salvation?" (read Hebr. 2: 1-4) In the Bible we are confronted with the facts of this world and the next. We are told about good and evil, God and satan, heaven and hell. To ignore or explain away these clear teachings is infinitely more foolish than to drive furiously down a highway ignoring the law as well as the warnings put there for our own good.

"Salvation" means deliverance from the guilt and penalty of sin. To ignore or minimize the nature of sin and its consequences is far greater folly than to ignore the evidence of cancer and refuse treatment.

The uniqueness of Jesus Christ and his salvation, and the simple condition placed on men — that they believe and accept — combine to magnify the folly of neglecting the salvation of our souls.

Surely salvation from sin through the shed blood of the Son of God is the greatest gift God offers to mankind.

God forbid that we should neglect it.

Wedding

GUTOSKIE — RINTOUL

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Kitchener, decorated with mauve and white gladioli and canedabria made a pretty setting for the wedding in the evening on Friday, August 22, 1969 of Donna June Rintoul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rintoul, R.R. 2, Lucknow, and Harold Anthony Gutoskie, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gutoskie, of Kitchener. Rev. G. A. MacDonald conducted the double-ring ceremony and Douglas Haas played traditional wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of silk organza over faille with an A-line skirt, and empire waist. The bodice, bottom of the gown and matching train were trimmed with imported lace. Her shoulder-length veil of nylon tulle in four tiers was held by a matching lace floret crown trimmed with leaves and pearls. She carried miniature white mums and stephanotis.

Mrs. David Oberholtzer, of Barrie, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a floor-length A-line gown of mauve organza over matching peau de soie with empire waist and short sleeves. A matching train attached by a back bow fell from the waist to the hemline. Her headpiece was a mauve bow and she carried white and mauve miniature mums.

In identical attire were the bridesmaids, Miss Linda Gutoskie, of Kitchener, sister of the groom, Miss Sharon Rintoul, of London, and Miss Doris Rintoul, R.R. 2, Lucknow, sisters of the bride.

Michael McKelvie, Kitchener, was best man and the ushers were, Neil Rintoul, R.R. 2, Lucknow, the bride's brother, Andrew Schlupp, of Conestoga, and David Dauby of Sturgeon Falls.

The bridal party and parents of the bride and groom received their guests at the Breslau Hotel. Mrs. Rintoul wore a dress and coat of pink lace with matching feather hat, black patent accessories and corsage of pink and white miniature mums. The groom's mother chose a dress and coat of blue lace, white accessories and a corsage of white miniature mums.

The young couple enjoyed a wedding trip to New York State and Vermont. Mrs. Gutoskie wore a white crocheted dress with pink trim and pink accessories for travelling. Her corsage was pink Sweetheart roses.

Both are graduates of the Lougheed Business College in Kitchener. They will live at 58 Kinzie Avenue in that city.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. George Caldwell, Blyth.

OBITUARY

TYNDALL — MILLIAN

Decorated with candelabra, pink carnations, yellow and blue tipped shasta mums, and white bows with blue inserts on the pews, Knox United Church, Auburn, was the setting for the wedding ceremony.

July 19, 1969, when Patricia Diane Millian and Frederick Bruce Tyndall exchanged marriage vows.

Rev. J. A. Mowatt, of Wesley-Willis Church, Clinton, and Pastor Wilfred Fry, of Auburn United Church, officiated at the 3:30 p.m. double ring nuptials.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Merrill, of Clinton. The groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Tyndall also of Clinton.

Mrs. Norman Wightman, organist of the church, played traditional wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Miss Nancy Anderson, of Auburn, who beautifully rendered three solos. "Wedding Benediction" before the ceremony, "Wedding Prayer" during the service, and "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather, wore a charming floor-length empire line gown of pebble crystal peau de soie. The bodice was designed with a shallow scoop neckline and elbow sleeves, and accented with chantilly lace and tiny seed pearls.

Matching chantilly lace adorned a silk shantung dress, with blue full cathedral train which was acessories and a corsage of pink held at the waist by a large bow. The bridal veil of silk illusion in four scalloped tiers was held by a chiffon gown with white accessories cluster of peau roses and illusion petals. She wore a necklace and earrings the shade of her attendant's gowns, and carried a "T" shaped bouquet of American Beauty roses highlighted with Baby's Breath and a cascade of white ribbons.

In the evening the bridal party, wedding guests and friends enjoyed dancing in the Auburn Community Hall to the music of Scott's Orchestra. Mrs. Jewel Plunkett read an address of con-

Mrs. Darlene Fowler, Goderich, the matron of honour, wore a blue peau de broche floor-length gown with a white lace overlay on the empire line bodice. A full-length panel fell from a bow at the waist line. A matching floral headpiece completed her costume. She carried a crescent of pink carnations and blue-tipped white shasta mums.

Misses Brenda and Bonnie Tyndall, sisters of the groom, Miss Sherry Plaetzer, cousin of the bride, and Miss Mary Lyn Merrill, were bridesmaids. They wore blue peau de broche floor-length gowns. Their empire line bodices were accented with sequin trim, and a back panel waistline bow. They carried crescents of flowers identical to that of the matron of honour.

Miss Susan McGee, cousin of the bride, was the winsome flower girl, in a floor-length empire line white peau de broche gown with a blue sash trim. She carried a basket of matching flowers.

The attendants all wore gold crosses, the gift of the bride.

Master Robert McGregor, cousin of the groom, was ringbearer.

Bill Tyndall was his brother's best man. Ushering the guests were Wayne and Bill Millian, oldest and youngest brothers of the bride, Kenneth Jackson, London, and Richard Tyndall, brother of the groom.

For the reception which followed in the church parlour, the bride's mother chose a pale blue silk shantung dress, with blue full cathedral train which was acessories and a corsage of pink held at the waist by a large bow. The bridal veil of silk illusion in four scalloped tiers was held by a chiffon gown with white accessories cluster of peau roses and illusion petals. She wore a necklace and earrings the shade of her attendant's gowns, and carried a "T" shaped bouquet of American Beauty roses highlighted with Baby's Breath and a cascade of white ribbons.

In the evening the bridal party, wedding guests and friends enjoyed dancing in the Auburn Community Hall to the music of Scott's Orchestra. Mrs. Jewel Plunkett read an address of congratulations to the happy couple and Kenneth Sword, of Smooth Rock Falls presented them with a gift of money.

Morris Barns

Burned By Lightning

Two large barns on vacant farms in Morris Township were destroyed by fire late Monday night after being struck by lightning.

Firemen from Wingham and Brussels hauled water from Brussels to save two large sheds beside a flaming Concession 3 barn owned by Robert Wheeler. Loss included a season's crop of grain, hay and straw. He had finished harvesting 24 hours earlier.

At the same time, a Concession 9 barn filled with hay and straw, owned by Ronald Gordon, went up in flames. The Gordons said the fire was too far advanced when it was discovered to bother calling firemen.

A quantity of farm machinery was destroyed. The loss was partially covered by insurance. Forty-seven head of cattle which had access to the Gordon barn stayed away and were unharmed.

Good Crowd At Edgar Testimonial

More than 350 persons turned out Saturday night to honor Maitland Edgar, vice-principal at Lambton Central Collegiate Vo-cational Institute.

Mr. Edgar was Liberal candi-date in the federal riding of Hu-ron in 1965 and 1968. He was de-feated both times by Conservative Robert McKinley.

He was also active in sports, church and service club work and previously was honored by the Western Ontario Athletic Association.

He taught at South Huron Dis-trict High School two years before becoming vice-principal of the Petrolia School, and formerly was vice-principal of the A. M. Hugh Campbell Public School at CFB, Clinton.

The program and dance Satur-day night at Clinton Community Centre was in appreciation for his contribution to the community in various fields, plus helping to pioneer the Clinton recreation committee. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar and their six children were pre-sented with a television set dur-ing the party.

Shower

A miscellaneous shower for Miss Betty Ann Kelly whose marriage took place Saturday, September 6, was held September 3, in the Blyth Memorial Hall. The large crowd of close friends and neighbours were entertained with Miss Karen Middigal playing an accordian solo. Mrs. Louis Phelan conducted an adjective contest on the brides write up for the paper which proved to be quite amusing. Miss Susan Street favoured with a piano solo. Mrs. Hielke Roeteisoender conducted a contest on things you take on your honeymoon.

Betty Ann and her mother, Mrs. John Kelly, and Mrs. Bert van Lammeren, mother of the groom to be, were seated beneath mauve and yellow streamers and white bells. The following address was read by Mrs. Bodie Craig.

Wednesday, September 3, 1969.

Dear Betty Ann,

No doubt to you, it's very clear Your many friends are gathered here,

To wish you luck and prosperity

As you journey along the road together.

Though our advice is free, it's good And, if you act in the way you should,

There'll be no trouble and quar

rels very few,

If each will do as you ought to do.

Now, Betty, you must never give him bread

That's hard as stone and heavy as lead,

Be sure your cakes are fluffy and light

Your "laters" and meat are cook

His shoes must always be shiny and bright,
His trousers pressed and his hat in sight,
Take care that his socks are all complete,
The buttons sewed on his shirt real neat.

Louis should know when you need a new hat
Maybe three times a year, he'd think nothing of that,
And when you say "Please Louis,
some money?"

He'll answer sweetly "Sure all you want, honey."

He'll dry the dishes, put out the cat,
Sweep the floor and hang up his hat,
Remember your promise to love and obey,
And when he gets cross, just keep out of the way.

But when troubles come, as troubles do,
Both stick together, and you'll pull through,
So settle down soberly "It's no applesauce,
That a rolling stone gathers no moss.

We offer these gifts to show our goodwill,
We hope you'll find something some space to fill,
That your voyage through life will be happy and bright,
Is sincerely the wish of all here to-night.

The bride-to-be was presented with many beautiful and useful gifts. Betty Ann expressed her thanks to everyone. Lunch was then served.

WINE AND CHEESE PARTIES

One of my first and most regular customers of this column is Pete Wood of the Ingersoll Tribune, and the last time I called on him we discussed the forthcoming wine and cheese festival in his town. The festival interests me very much since I am a connoisseur of both wine and cheese, and the varieties of both that I have sampled in my lifetime have been multitudinous. When you put the wine and cheese together, the combination is palate-teasing and delicious.

To take wine first, I find that while a great many people may drink wine, few are able to explain just how it is made. It is the fermentation of grape juice brought about by the yeast that is in the fruit. This yeast consumes the sugar which all fruit juices contain, and gives off two byproducts - alcohol and carbon dioxide.

As soon as a break occurs in the skin of the grape, the yeast begins to convert the sugar into alcohol. If there is air present, the alcohol starts to change into vinegar, so the process is halted by raising the temperature of the wine to 186 degrees F., and holding it there for eight minutes.

This causes pastereurization of the wine and is followed by the introduction of cultured yeasts by which the proper fermentation is produced.

This fermentation has two stages. The first is right after the grapes are crushed and lasts from 48 to 72 hours. The second stage is after the seeds and skins have been removed and may last anywhere from two weeks to two months.

The flavour of the wine is determined largely by the type of grape used and how the wine is matured and blended after fermentation. Soil and climate also enter the picture. If conditions are not right at any one time, the result may be a poor year and wine lovers who know anything about the industry will be able to tell you what years were good and what years not so good for any one wine.

Since champagne is one of the most famous wines, you may be interested to know how it is made. It is basically a blend of white wines, to which a dose of liquefied sugar has been added. As the sugar turns to alcohol, carbonic acid gas is generated, which builds up high pressure in the bottle. During the end of the aging period the bottle is turned upside down, and the sediment gradually works up into the neck.

So much for wine. Turning to cheese, you may be pleased to learn that the first cheese factory in Canada was in Southwestern Ontario — in Oxford County to be exact, and so Ingersoll can certainly be justified in including cheese in any festival they hold.

While we have only recently gained any international reputation for our wines, our cheddar cheese has a different distinction. It has, for some time, taken its place as one of the most famous cheeses in the world. A great deal of it is sold in other countries, and more would be exported in all probability if the price were not kept so high.

I had often wondered how cheese and wine got together and someone suggested that it was because many countries produced both products. This is not the entire story, since Holland is famous for its cheese but nobody has heard of Dutch wine. Somebody else told me that cheese reduced the alcoholic effect of the wine more than any other food, and if this is true, cheese has a practical use as well at such a party.

I am all in favour of a festival such as the one being held in Ingersoll. There should be more of them. However, this one lasts for quite a few days, and there are all sorts of things you can do if you decide to drop in on it. However, if you haven't made up your mind yet what to see or do, let me recommend Wednesday, October 1. This is when the wine and cheese tasting party takes place from 7:30 to 11 in the evening.

See for yourself what good wine and cheese we have in this country, and especially how well they go together.

WEDDING

KITCHING — NESBITT

Mauve gladioli and white shasta daisies made a lovely setting on Saturday, September 13, 1969, when Miss Brenda Eileen Nesbitt and Mr. James Robert Kitching exchanged marriage vows. Rev. W. O. Mather officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Nesbitt, of Walton, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kitching, Woodstock.

Mrs. Donald Carter, Seaforth, played traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Dwight Campbell, of Blyth, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a formal gown of white bridal satin, featuring a rose applique lace bodice with square neckline and wrist length sleeves. The cathedral length train and A-line skirt were accented with rose applique lace trim. Her three tiered veil of nylon tulle was caught up by a wedding band of matching satin and lace.

Miss Linda Nesbitt, sister of the bride, was maid of honour, wearing mauve crystal organza over purple taffeta. The empire line styling, jewel neckline and full sleeves were accented by matching daisy trim.

Miss Muriel Bryant, friend of the bride, attended as bridesmaid, and Miss Patsy Kitching, sister of the groom, junior bridesmaid. They wore similar dresses of mauve crystal organza over mauve taffeta. To complete their outfits the girls chose matching mauve bands and veils.

Miss Joan Barrie, niece of the bride, as flower girl, dressed as a miniature bride in a gown identical to the bride's. The attendants carried bouquets of white shasta daisies.

The best man was Mr. Bob Martell, friend of the groom, and ushers were Mr. Don Kitching, brother of the groom, and Mr. Murray Nesbitt, brother of the bride.

Dinner was served in Blyth United Church followed by a reception at the bride's parents' home. The bride's mother received the guests wearing a coat and dress ensemble of jade green ribbed jacquard silk with beige and black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother wearing a gold fortrel dress with black accessories and yellow roses.

For travelling the bride wore a camel wool suit dress complimented by brown accessories and a mauve orchid.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was honoured by showers at the homes of Mrs. Russell Jervis, Clinton, Mrs. Howard Kitching, of Woodstock, Mrs. Shirley Westberg, Blyth, and the Staff of Bonnie-Brae Nursing Home Tavistock. The couple will reside in Stratford.
